POSTERS AS ART: SWISS DESIGN IN PERSPECTIVE

From May 20th–June 20th, leading Swiss gallery Artifice will hold an exhibition in London's South Kensington. Visitors will be able to see and purchase some of the finest examples of 20th Century and contemporary Swiss and American poster design. So much of the artistic progression of the last century can be seen in poster design, it's bound to be a real delight and there'll also be work from today's leading Swiss typographers and poster designers on show too. For more, tel: 07762 419563 or visit www.swissposter.com

SALVO FAIR 2009

What could be better than strolling around Knebworth, in the height of summer, and rummaging around a salvage fair? The Salvo Fair, which takes place from June 27th-28th, allows visitors to browse exciting architectural and garden salvage, antiques, reclaimed materials and watch craft demonstrations. Find everything from Hungarian textiles to Belgian buckets all against the beautiful backdrop of Knebworth House in Hertfordshire. With its formal gardens and adventure playground, you can bring the whole family along too! Admission is £7.50, with a 10% discount for those tickets bought in advance. Tel: 01749 813899 or visit www.bradsons.co.uk

LOVE'S LABOUR PRESERVED

John Betjeman described the Church of the Holy Angels as "the masterpiece of its late Victorian architect, G. F. Bodley" but it is also a magnum opus of remembrance. Built in the small village of Hoar Cross, 7 miles west of Burton on Trent, by Emily Meynell-Ingram, it is a memorial to her husband, Hugo, who was killed in a hunting accident in 1871 after they had been married just eight years. She dedicated the rest of her life to improving and installing treasures into this magnificent church and eventually died in 1904.

If you have any interest in church architecture this one is well worth the trip and the Meynell-Ingram Arms in the village should be able to provide you with an excellent lunch too.

Summer visiting times are 10am to 5pm and if you have a sat nav the postcode is DE13 8QR.
